

Mark Polson

Chief executive and founder

Mark Polson founded the lang cat, Leith's leading independent platform, pensions and investment consultancy (probably) back in 2010 after being ejected from corporate life at some velocity. He still hasn't got bored, so here we all are.

If you don't like what the lang cat does, that's his fault. He spends too much time going to gigs aimed at people considerably younger and more tattooed than him, and has a guitar collection which is at the same time far too big and nowhere near big enough, depending on whose perspective we're talking about.
